Malpractice Charge For Bartenders?

A court decision is striking fear in the heart of every serious drinker.

The court holds that the mischief, damage or injury conceived by a drunk is also the responsibility of the person who served him drinks after he had reached the stage of intoxication.

Therein lies a wide, gray area in which hosts, bartenders and saloonkeepers will become entrapped. At what point did this lush become intoxicated? Who saw the drink provider supply the shot that put him over the threshold?

The court decision is referred to as the "liquor law liability" by insurance people. Members of the Tavern and Restaurant Assn. call it the "Dram Shop." That term originated in England. Lawyers call it "Third Party Liability." It's all part and parcel of the same package but it means different things to different people.

Whether the court's decision is good or bad is not the issue here. This is offered to inform those who drink, sell or give away the stuff.

It started in soon after the close of the Prohibition Era when the State Legislature passed a law designed to deter bartenders from serving alcoholic beverages to intoxicated customers. To do so, said Legislature, would be a misdemeanor and the guilty party would be fined for the offense.

It is obvious that the law invoked only infrequently . . . until the 1971 Vesley v. Sager case came before the State Supreme Court and in a precedent-setting decision, held that anyone who served liquor to an obviously intoxicated person would be held responsible for that person's actions.

It didn't bother saloon keepers much even though there were some sporadic lawsuits based on the court's decision.

But after smart lawyers found the mother lode in medical malpractice suits by filing multi-million dollar suits, it was predictable that suits based on the third party theme would also be filed. A suit for $3 million was filed in San Diego recently. Those in the hundreds of thousands are numerous.

Medicos had raised medical charges dramatically as insurance firms, forced to pay more and larger claims, jumped their rates as much at 10-15 times rates previously charged.

Suddenly, those who dispense liquor for profit are facing a similar dilemma. It comes in the form of liability insurance bills. Before the Vesley-Sager decision the liability insurance was a modest $25. The same coverage today is generally $2,000.

A San Francisco chain of 6 restaurants paid $2,000 for the insurance last year. This year the owner paid $22,500. That goes on the menu as the added cost of dinners.

A cocktail party at home can financially wreck the party-giver. For example: a guest has a wreck enroute home from the party and injures another individual. The injured can sue the host for actions committed by his guest while under the influence of liquor.

Bea Danforth, office manager for the S.D. Tavern and Restaurant Assn. said the association, in cooperation with other associations, has attempted to get Legislature to put a ceiling on liability — urging $20,000 for one and $50,000 for two or more. Legislature appears ready to pass the bill but with the ceiling raised to $100,000 for one and $250,000 for two or more.

She, too, agrees that it is near impossible to determine the threshold of intoxication. A danger, she avers, is the probability of a drunk to point the finger at one liquor establishment or one private address where he might have had a drink, in order to protect a friend.

All of this is going to have a dramatic effect on social activity. Cocktail hour at a friend's home may become the cocktail 10 minutes. Your friendly bartender can get into no bigger beef than when he accuses one of his regular customers — one who habitually drinks himself into a coma — of being past the threshold when he is only half-drunk.

It makes a CIA agent of the man behind the bar. Few cocktail party friendships can stand the strain of a host keeping track of the drinks and at a point saying, "No Mabel, you've had two drinks already. You're cut off!"

Unquestionably it will reduce public drunk charges and perhaps it may reduce the continual rising consumption of booze.

It may even drive thousands from the barroom to the television set — another form of mental opiate.

It revives the old gag of the friend suggesting to another that his drinking habits certainly must produce a colossal hangover. "Yes," he responded, "But I don't wake up knowing that's the best I'm going to feel all day!"

'If I Get Caught . . .'

Ralph de Toledano, writing for Copley News Service reminds that Jimmy Carter, who proposes himself as the "Mr. Clean" of presidential hopefuls, has promised the nation that he will quit the race if he is caught in an untruth or a deception.

On January 19, 1971, Georgia Governor Jimmy Carter wrote on official stationery to Reed Larson, executive vice-president of the National Right to Work Committee: ". . . I stated during my campaign that I was not in favor of doing away with the right-to-work law, and that is a position I still maintain."

The reference is the repeal of Sec. 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act which grants the states the right to ban compulsory unionism.

According to de Toledano, Sect. 14B is a red flag to George Meany and to all Big Labor, and most candidates would prefer not to talk about it — particularly since the vast majority of Americans favor Taft-Hartley's right-to-work provisions.

But Carter is reported to have told Big Labor, "My position now is the same as in 1970, when I was running for governor. I told the labor representatives from Georgia that any time repeal of the right-to-work law could be passed by the legislature, then I would sign it. That has been my position since 1970. I would do the same as president."

Watch for some Washington reporter to ask him about this variance — and see if he quits.

Ronald Reagan Says . . .

They say a pessimist is someone who sees a calamity in every opportunity and an optimist is a fellow who sees an opportunity in every calamity. Well, I do not believe the energy problem is a calamity yet. It might just be an historic opportunity for our country to again demonstrate the inherent strength of our system, by accelerating the technology we must have to meet our energy need.

LAFCO Hearing Monday to Awaken Sleeping LG Cityhood Movement

By John Kowalczyk

The Lemon Grove Incorporation-Reorganization movement is expected to get up off its back bright and early Monday morning when the county's Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) holds a public hearing on the current proposed boundaries of the prospective city.

The same day, La Mesa expects a routine hearing and approval of its bid to annex Vista La Mesa and vicinity, the Rolando Knolls area and the American Homes-Spring Valley Highlands tracts.

The two issues were deferred from the June 8 LAFCO meeting when the Commission decided there had been insufficient public notice of the hearings.

LAFCO's Mike Gotch reported that the agency's once-a-month meeting agenda is "about 15 miles long," but that Lemon Grove and La Mesa issues are numbers 1 and 2.

That means, barring any unforeseeable delays, the machinery for cityhood should be back in gear after the morning of July 12.

Comments Welcome

Both hearings welcome opinions of any interested citizens. The LAFCO commission will be seated in Room 358 of the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway in San Diego. The session begins at 9 a.m.

Expected to be among those attending the hearing is a group called Citizens for Annexation to La Mesa.

Under the leadership of Vista La Mesa area residents F. J. Schaubelt and King Milligan, the group has waged an active anti-Lemon Grove City campaign, not only in Vista La Mesa and the surrounding tracts which the group leaders say are erroneously lumped under the title "Vista La Mesa," but also in the Blossom Hills area, a southeastern pocket included in Lemon Grove's boundary.

If Lemon Grove bounds encompass Blossom Hills, it would mean the detachment of that area from the Spring Valley Fire Protection District, should a Lemon Grove election succeed.

Letter Tally

The Lemon Grove opponents have mailed 511 personally written letters to LAFCO which argue against Lemon Grove city encroachment into either area. The letters stopped flowing after June 8, said Gotch.

June 8 was the date LAFCO postponed the hearings.

Meanwhile, LAFCO has collected 73 pieces of correspondence from Lemon Grove advocates living in these controversial areas. These, says Gotch, are a combination of personally written letters and form letters with a resident's signature.

Chairmen to Listen

The three chairmen of the Lemon Grove Incorporation-Reorganization committee expect a "routine" hearing Monday, and they plan to spend most of the time listening to the proceedings.

Co-chairmen Jim Dorman, Karen Thomson and Dell Lake all said they intend to sit back and listen at the hearing, and comment when appropriate.

Although all three can envision no further delay in the governmental machinery leading to an election, at least Dorman is "interested" in two possible wrenches which may be thrown into the works.

One is Blossom Hills. If enough opposition to Lemon Grove is generated by its residents at the hearing, the LAFCO commission may be persuaded to make still another boundary change.

The other potential hitch is where the north boundary lines are drawn, despite the verbal agreement between Lemon Grove proponents and La Mesa on a Freeway 94 boundary.

Gotch said the LAFCO staff recommended that the line be drawn along the immediate north boundary of the freeway, in compliance with a specific request of the Lemon Grove Incorporation group. He said the city stands to receive some extra revenue from having a highway in its acreage.

La Mesa city officials, he said, did not make a preference regarding which side of the freeway would be chosen for the boundaries.

It remains to be seen whether La Mesa will sit quiet over that technicality, although Karen Thomson, for one, doesn't anticipate a problem.

Glad for Delay

Lake, who also expects smooth sailing Monday, said he was glad that Lemon Grove Cityhood will not be a ballot item until March. A goal was to have the issue on the June 8 primary.

"There were just too many items on that ballot," he said. "I don't think we would have stood a chance because voters were turning down just about everything."

He is equally pessimistic about what chances would have been in November. He said the Presidential election ballot is likely to be just as cluttered.

"I feel we'll have a better chance to reach the people with (the present game-plan for) a March 1977 election," Lake said.

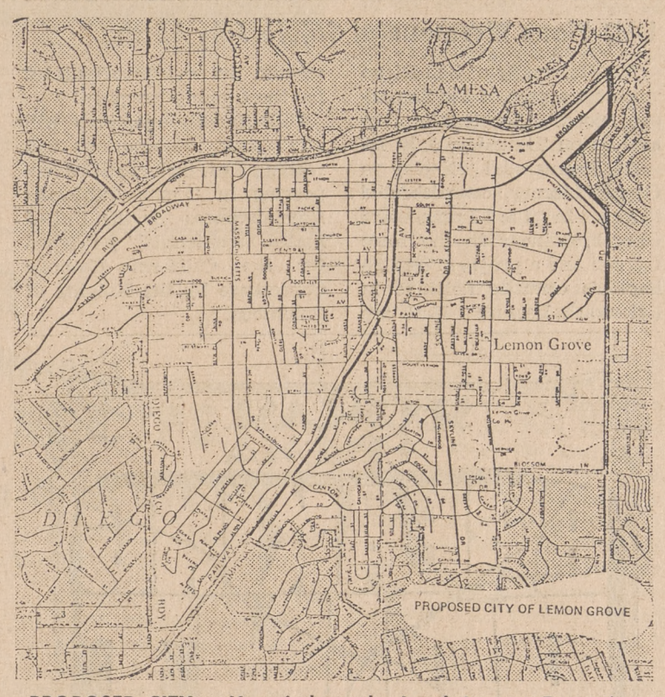

Cautious Optimism

Dorman, Lake, and Thomson express cautious optimism about the hearing Monday.

If the boundaries are approved by the LAFCO commission, the issue will go to the Board of Supervisors for their approval, both of the La Mesa annexation and Lemon Grove incorporation.

If the supervisors approve, La Mesa will hold its annexation election in November and Lemon Grove will follow in March.

A further delay for replanning would result if La Mesa fails in its annexation bid. That result would leave the Vista La Mesa unincorporated "Island" which would nullify Lemon Grove as it is mapped out today.

PROPOSED CITY — Here is how the Local Agency Formation Commission sees Lemon Grove's boundaries at present. LAFCO will hear public comment on the plan Monday in County Chambers Room 358 at 1600 Pacific Highway. Lemon Grove proponents expect acceptance by the LAFCO commission to be routine.

$11.9 Million Interchange Closes Rt. 94 Freeway 'Gap'

The gap in the Route 94 freeway between Spring st. and Bancroft dr. in Casa de Oro closed Tuesday as traffic was opened to the new ramp connections. The project had been under construction almost two years.

"The work there is not totally finished," said Jacob Dekema, district director of transportation for CALTRANS, "so we advise motorists to drive cautiously, especially in the detour areas near the new Campo rd. overcrossing."

The on-ramp from Spring st. to eastbound Rt. 94 is the only connection that will not be opened, Dekema said.

It should be opened within two weeks.

Before the opening a daily count of 30,000 motorists wanting to reach Casa de Oro and other points east had to exit the freeway at Campo rd., travel about a mile on the city street system and then enter the freeway again near Bancroft dr.

Now it is a stopless freeway ride through the interchange.

Daley Corporation, low-bidder in the $11.9 million project, will continue work at the site for several months, CALTRANS reported.

County Joins in EC SuperCenter

Using a joint powers agreement, the County of San Diego and the City of El Cajon will participate in the development of a superblock civic center in El Cajon.

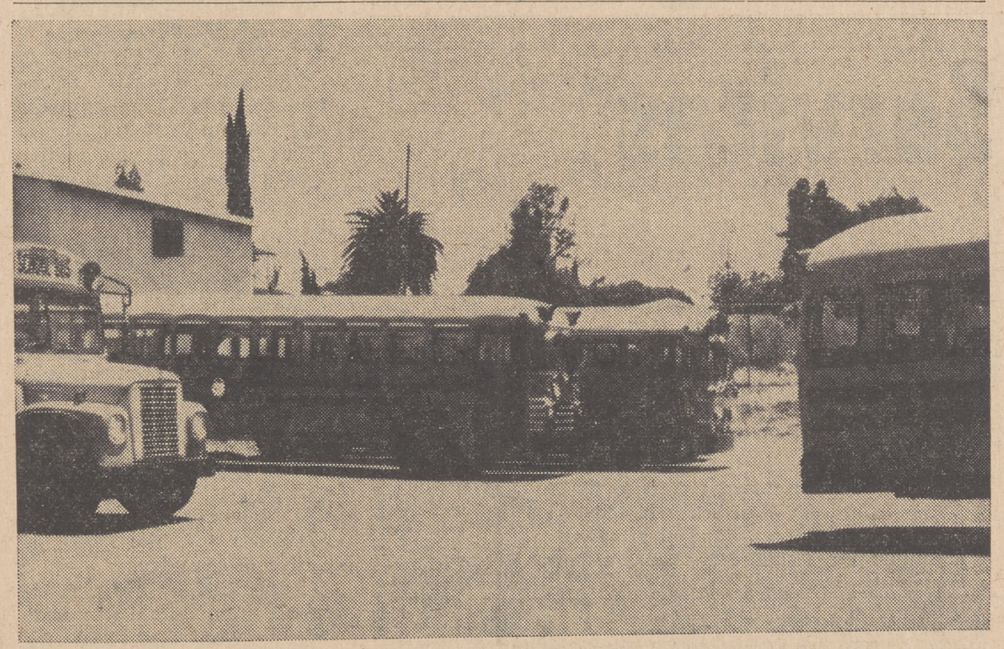

El Cajon is completing its city hall, council chambers and auditorium in the civic center. The East County Regional Center will be located nearby.

The county's center will house 20 courtrooms and ancillary facilities in a building 10-12 floors high with 30,000 square feet on each floor. It is projected to accommodate needs until 1985.

Summer Vacation to Close Chamber Office

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce office, at 3415 Imperial ave., will be closed from July 12 to August 2 for summer vacation.

The next Chamber meeting is on July 22, at noon in the Banquet Room of the Skandia Smorgasbord, Broadway and Kempf.

PHASE DOWN? Fewer buses may fill the maintenance yard of the Lemon Grove School District on Skyline dr., if school officials decide to adopt a phase-down of the free service to handicapped pupils and those living beyond set distances from school. The cut in service would help stem the tide of rising operating costs, officials say.

Jr. High Students Off the Bus If LG Board Adopts Phase-Out

By John Kowalczyk

Junior high students in Lemon Grove who are accustomed to free rides to and from school may be pounding the streets this fall.

At a recent meeting of the Lemon Grove School Board, both the Superintendent and trustees indicated interest in the gradual phase-out of school bus service beginning with the elimination of bus rides for junior high students this fall.

The schools affected would be Lemon Grove Jr. High and Palm Jr. High.

The junior high phase-out was introduced by school Superintendent Robert Sutton as an alternative to a budgeted expense of $28,000 to replace a large school bus.

"To continue our present level of service," Sutton said in a memo to board members, "it is essential that we schedule replacement of our older buses.

150 May Walk

Cutting junior high rides would deny the privilege for about 150 students, Sutton said. Those served must live more than 2½ miles away, according to the superintendent.

Sutton said that, in his judgment, those students would have little more difficulty providing their own transportation than do students just short of two miles away.

Board members Leonard Klee, Henry Reinecke and H. Warren Buckner agreed that the time had come to seriously consider the elimination or phasing down of the bus program.

Assessed Values Up 13 Per Cent

Another 13 per cent increase in assessed valuation has been laid on San Diego County property owners this year. The increase precisely is 13.3 per cent. The year before the increase was 13.2 per cent.

The new valuation was announced by E. C. Williams, S.D. County Assessor, who listed the total as $5,494,532,000 compared to the 1975 total of $4,850,609,000.

Assessed valuation represents 25 per cent of the market value as determined by the assessor's office. Every $1,000 increase in assessed valuation represents $4,000 in increased market value, the assessor says.

The 13.3 per cent increase is an average. Del Mar was increased 56.2 per cent; Vista 37.5 per cent and Coronado 20.5 per cent.

The assessor represents all of the county and 13 incorporated cities. Assessor's staff reappraised more than 215,000 individual properties, last year —43 per cent of the total, it was reported.

Williams said that increases in the county varied widely for 1976—from lows of 10 per cent to highs as much as 700 per cent. Increases of 40-80 per cent are typical, Williams said. It coincides with the annual 12-18 per cent increases caused by inflation and high demand he said.

To Appeal Assessments

Assessment appeals applications for 1976-77 may be filed now through Sept. 15, according to Mrs. Porter D. Cremans, Clerk of the San Diego County Assessment Appeals Board.

Application forms may be obtained in Room 306, County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway, she said. Her phone is 236-2333.

Total applications filed for 1975-76 were 1,798. Applications heard and considered by Assessment Appeals Boards to date total 1,733. Reductions were made in 64 per cent of the applications, 33.9 per cent were denied and 2.1 per cent were increased.

TWO SISTERS in Casa de Oro have won berths in the 1976 "Our Little Miss" Competition. Lori (left), 10, and Sheri Giebel, 6, won first place in their divisions and will compete in the regional contest in Palm Springs next week.

Sheri will represent the county in the regionals, while Lori entered and won the "Our Little Miss Beach City" division.

Both are students at Highlands Elementary and study dance at Miss Ginger's Dance Boutique in Lakeside.

YOU AND CHURCH

Church means reaching out with compassion to all mankind. It is working to see God's goodness realized in everyone's life—proving His power to heal any problem. It is something you can practice every day.

Every time you see someone as perfect as God made him, every time you dissolve a friend's fear with love, you are a living example of church.

We invite you to learn more about what church is, and to hear a simple Christian service. Won't you come? You're all welcome!

USD Plans Bicentennial Salute July 15 th

The University of San Diego will host a part of the San Diego Diocese Bicentennial celebration on Thursday, July 15.

A Bicentennial Display in Copley Library, concelebrated Mass in the Immaculata Church, dinner in the Rose Garden and a program on California's Catholic heritage in Salomon Lecture Hall are among the events scheduled for the evening program.

USD faculty members will offer slide presentations and reading of their articles appearing in "Some California Reminiscences for the United States Bicentennial" published for the California Catholic Conference by the Knights of Columbus.

3 Valley Girls Chosen for Aux. Girls State '76

The La Mesa Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary sent six local high school juniors, including three from Spring Valley, to the Girls State trip to the University of California at Sacramento.

Girls State is an activity organized in 1937 to provide citizenship training for high school age girls of high achievement.

The chosen girls live together as self-governing citizens.

Chosen by the local Auxiliary this year are Sharon Lundberg of Grossmont High; Jennifer Kawar of Helix High; Viki Vigus of Valhalla; Kathleen Roberts of Mt. Miguel; Arlene Armendarez of Monte Vista and Kimberly Hall of Santana.

Roberts, Vigus and Armandarez are Spring Valley residents.

Church Sponsors USA Birthday Dance Fri.

The Women's Fellowship of the Lemon Grove Congregational Church of Christ will sponsor a Bicentennial Dance on Friday in Mayflower Hall at 2770 Glebe rd.

Music will be furnished by the "La Mesa Hotshots" and will begin promptly at 8 p.m.

Refreshments and door prizes will be included in the $2 donation. Soft drinks will be available at ten cents.

The public is invited.

Year's First Rabies

The first reported case of rabies in the county this year was reported recently. A rabid bat was found in the yard of a Ramona home.

The animal was captured, preventing human or animal exposure.

Rabies vaccinations for dogs and cats are available through private vets and clinics held by the County Department of Animal Control.

AREA BIRTHS

The following is a list of area births recently recorded at Grossmont Hospital:

June 17

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas L. Brown, Spring Valley, a boy, Brian Joseph.

June 23

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent C. Aranda, Lemon Grove, a girl, Jessica Renee.

Jr. High May be Off LG Bus

Trustee Jim Dorman was absent.

A supporting factor in eliminating the service is the fact that Lemon Grove has grown from a predominantly rural area with a serious lack of traffic signals on major streets, to a highly urbanized area with lights and crosswalks at major intersections.

The theory is that it is no longer unsafe to walk to school.

Not Surprised

Both director of maintenance Jerry Heath and bus driver supervisor Art Brown insist there is no safer way to get to school than riding on a school bus, but neither was surprised by the talk about cutting service.

"It has been talked about for some time," said Heath, "So it really wasn't a shock to me."

Heath, who is a former Lemon Grove School bus driver who keeps his operator's license up to date, said the first phase of service cuts would not eliminate any jobs, although bus driver hours may be cut.

The bus staff now consists of five regular drivers, a serviceman, head driver Brown and three substitutes.

They command a fleet of nine buses; seven large and two smaller transport vans used mostly for busing handicapped pupils to schools in the La Mesa-Spring Valley and Cajon Valley School Districts which offer special education services not offered in the Lemon Grove District.

Financial Pressure

Inflationary operating expenses and a gradual reduction in state aid to the transportation program are financial pressures which may spur the move to make cuts in bus service.

The cost of the busing averaged $124.45 a pupil annually in 1974-75, up from $64.96 four years earlier.

Total transportation program expenditures have risen 22 per cent in five years to $74,546. Salaries and benefits for drivers and mechanic constitute nearly 85 per cent of that amount.

State income supporting the bus service dropped from $28,244 in 1971 to $20,935 in 1974, while funds from the school district's general fund rose from $29,919 to $45,350.

The original $28,000 allotment would have replaced a 61-passenger 1955 GMC model with a new 83-passenger bus. The GMC is not as old as a 1953 White used by the district (capacity 57) but it is in worse shape, according to Heath.

He said if the phase out goes through in the fall, chances are the board would decide to upgrade transportation for handicapped. An alternative would be to trade in the oldest of the two smaller vans, a 1964 Traveller, for a new small vehicle.

CONDUCTS "CARMEN" — If you missed La Mesa's Louis Campiglia conducting the San Diego Youth Symphony in the Balboa Park Organ Pavilion concert presentation of "Carmen" on Wednesday, there remain two opportunities. The "opera under the stars" is repeated at 8 p.m. Friday and Sunday. The performance is free, but voluntary contributions will be solicited. The opera is a community service of Miramar College and the San Diego recreation department.

Circus Here Tuesday For 12 Performances

The nation's oldest entertainment event, Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, opens Tuesday 8 p.m. in the Sports Arena with a salute to "200 years of circus in America."

The all-new 106th edition of The Greatest Show on Earth, playing here for 12 performances through Sunday features more than 200 animals and performers from throughout the world.

A highlight of the 1976 production is the marriage of Michu, at 33 inches the world's smallest man, to Juliana Pimvicska, herself a tiny 38 inches and, like Michu, a native of Hungary.

Recognized by "The Guinness Book of World Records," Michu was discovered by Ringling Bros. producers Irvin and Kenneth Feld in Budapest.

Fed. Housing, Rent Funds Available For County Use

"The San Diego region is eligible for a bonus allocation of federal funds for housing construction and rent subsidy, because of the cooperative efforts of local elected officials and agency staffs," according to the Executive Committee of the Comprehensive Planning Organization (CPO). A staff report recommending that CPO immediately submit an application to the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for Supplemental Section 8 Areawide Housing Opportunity Plans urged by San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson.

Lemon Grove and Spring Valley are eligible for funds. Deadline for the application is Monday. The San Diego area is one of fifteen regions throughout the country that have qualified to apply to the HUD housing assistance program. The area has qualified due to the actions taken by member jurisdictions through the region's "council of governments."

"Because elected officials within the region decided, through cooperative planning, to participate in housing activities, the region is in a strong position to receive financial assistance under the Areawide Housing Opportunity Plan," chairman Lorraine Boyce explained. The HUD annoucement indicated $20 would be available, nationally for jurisdictions participating in the program.

If approved, the application could result in 400 to 1000 additional housing units within the region. These units would be primarily intended for limited income families, defined as a family of four members with an annual income of not more than $11,500. In addition to providing new housing for these families, this bonus program would also benefit the private sector, such as the housing construction industry.

Women to Enter AF Security Forces

The Air Force will soon begin seeking a limited number of qualified young women to enlist as Security Specialists, according to an Air Force Security Police official. Volunteers will participate in a trial program utilizing women in the Security Career Specialty.

"We currently have female officers and eventually will have female senior non-commissioned officers supervising security," said Gen. Thomas Sadler, AF chief of security.

Women volunteers numbering 120 will be sought by the Air Force beginning this month, enlistments scheduled for October and November.

Foothill Artists Open Patriotic Theme Show

The Foothills Art Assn. is sponsoring a special Bicentennial Art Exhibit during July and August at the Ben Polak Fine Arts Center. Foothills members have been creating entries for the past year on Bicentennial themes: Heritage '76, Festival '76 and Horizons '76. More than 50 paintings are on display.

An open house honoring participants is set for July 11 at the Center from 2 to 4 p.m.

Guests will include La Mesa Mayor Paul Fordem and Ann Humphrey, Miss La Mesa, 1976.

Mail Bag

Dear Editor,

In your June 24 issue there was a front-page story about EPIC (Effective Problem Intervention Center) receiving a grant from the Human Care Services Program. It was stated incorrectly in the article that EPIC was subcontracting for these funds with the El Cajon Boys Club.

The $28,000 grant was in fact given to the Heartland Human Relations Association (HHRA), a non-profit, community-based organization serving the Heartland area since 1969. HHRA's main focus is human relations activities in the areas of housing, employment, and education. HHRA is subcontracting with EPIC to perform those parts of the contract that are not within HHRA's regular scope of activities, such as recreation and counseling.

Yours truly,
Sylvia MacLeod

Skin Wear and Tear, Creaky Bones May Signal Nutritional Starving

By Lelord Kordel

Number Nineteen of a Series

Your skin, the same as your hair, is made of protein. In fact, it is possible to produce ulcers of the skin merely by keeping the diet extremely low in protein. Yet these skin ulcers can be healed quickly enough when abundant quantities of high-protein foods are restored to the meals.

Similarly, a reducing diet (or any other diet, for that matter) which excludes fats is bound to result in a dry, wrinkled skin. Olive, peanut, sunflower seed, safflower and cod-liver oils contain certain unsaturated fatty acids which are essential to the health of the skin.

A dry, scaly condition of the skin is likely to develop when an insufficient amount of these fatty acids is eaten. Although found in cream and butter to some extent, these skin-conditioning unsaturated fatty acids are more generously available in the oils mentioned.

Beautiful Skin

Anyone who has travelled in Mediterranean countries where olive oil "flows like water" has noticed the beautiful skin so prevalent among women of those countries, who use it internally and externally.

If your body, as a whole, is not properly nourished, the skin is usually one of the first organs to show signs of a nutritional deficiency.

When the diet does not contain enough vitamin A, an early symptom is a pimply eruption. The deficiency disease caused by a serious lack of the B-vitamins, niacin in particular, is characterized by severe skin troubles that begin on the hands and feet, resembling a bad sunburn with blisters and cracked skin.

No doubt you're waiting for me to tell you that such-and-such food will "erase" the wrinkles from your face. That I cannot do. But I can tell you that a skin which is not allowed to become dry and roughened, either because of external abuse or internal starvation, is far less likely to develop and retain wrinkles than a poorly nourished skin.

Bones, Muscles "Talk"

Your bones and muscles can be tattletales, too. No firmly established law of nature decrees that a man or woman must go creaking and shuffling through the remainder of his or her days after passing a certain age.

Barring serious injury (and even then correct diet can help speed a normal recovery), there's no reason why you should not walk with as firm a step, or arise from a chair with as much grace at 70 as you did at 30. But you cannot abuse — and by this I mean starve.— your bones and muscles and still expect them to provide you with a firm foundation for continuing to look and feel young.

What are the food elements essential to healthy bones?

Most commonly recognized nutrients are calcium and phosphorus. Our bones are composed mainly of these two. As an average person, you can lose nearly an ounce of these precious minerals every day. Constant replacement through the diet is vitally necessary to continued good health and strong bones.

Powdered skim milk, and the various kinds of cheese, particularly cottage cheese, are reliable sources of food calcium. Lean meat and eggs are other food sources of calcium as well as protein. Phosphorus, the other "bone mineral," is also found in non-fat milk, cheese, eggs, lean meat, fish and poultry.

But all the calcium-rich foods you may eat are not going to do your bones—or the other calcium craving organs in your body—much good if that calcium cannot reach the bloodstream to be distributed where needed.

Stomach Acids

Therefore, even though your diet may contain plenty of calcium, little of it reaches your bones (or your heart, muscles, glands and nerves) unless your stomach acids are strong enough to dissolve the mineral and keep it in solution.

There are two ways in which to increase the concentrated acidity of your digestive juices: First, by having your stomach acids tested by a reliable physician, who may then prescribe so many drops of dilute hydrochloric acid to be taken in water with every meal; and second, by adding liberal quantities of vitamin B-complex to your diet, since this group of B-vitamins greatly influences the flow and acidity of stomach juices.

No mention of calcium and phosphorus for the bones is complete without including vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin." We know that vitamin D, in some mysterious way, controls the retention, absorption and distribution of these minerals in the bones. That is one reason why the serious lack of vitamin D in children will cause rickets.

And in adults, a serious lack of Vitamin D will hasten the appearance of "brittle" bones.

Next: Nerves require feeding to keep from "jangling"; blood must get iron to keep you young-looking.

Teachers Vote LGTA as Sole Arbitrator

Lemon Grove teachers cast an overwhelming majority of ballots in June to make Lemon Grove Teachers Assn. exclusive bargaining agent in matters of negotiation with the Lemon Grove School District after July 1.

Earlier this year, the school board recognized LGTA as the exclusive bargaining agent but, nonetheless, upon recommendation of Superintendent Bob Sutton, called for an election to verify that a majority favored representation.

The election was held under supervision of the state Education Employment Relations Board New collective bargaining legislation, effective July 1, demands an exclusive bargaining agent for teachers in each school district.

Nearly all of the 146 teachers in the Lemon Grove District are LGTA members. Others are affiliated with the American Federation of Teachers or are not members of any organization.

According to provisions of the new collective bargaining legislation, as of July 1, LGTA will meet and negotiate with Lemon Grove governing board representatives to establish a contract stating guidelines for items such as salaries and benefits, class size, working conditions, transfers and evaluation procedures.

"The (election) results come as no surprise," said LGTA president Barbara Brockhouse, "especially since 127 teachers signed cards seeking volunteer recognition earlier in the spring. Many hours have been spent collectively by teachers devising the 1976-77 proposal."

"Lemon Grove Teachers Assn. has previously been successful in meeting and conferring, under the Winston Act, and with continued teacher support will remain so under collective bargaining," Brockhouse said.

Lemon Grove School Classified Workers OK CSEA as Agent

The California School Employees Assn. was voted the exclusive bargaining agent for classified personnel at the Lemon Grove School District.

Classified employees, most of whom perform supportive services to the schools, voted 119-2 to allow CSEA to represent them in collective bargaining negotiations with school administrators.

Employees and administrators at all California public schools begin a collective bargaining relationship today, under provisions of the Rodda Bill, SB 160.

'Starving Artists' To Show in San Diego

San Diego County artists in all media are invited to enter the 12th Annual Starving Artists Show through Saturday on Horton Plaza, San Diego.

That is, if they are willing to sell their work for $12 or less, said show chairman Mary Bentzsen, of the Clairemont Art Guild, sponsoring organization.

There are no advance reservations. Registration starts at the Plaza at 7 a.m. each day, and show will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Artists may participate any or all days.

One caution: no nudes.

In previous years, the show has attracted up to 400 artists. No artists outside of San Diego county may participate, she said.

The event this year is a featured attraction of San Diego Central City's Bicentennial Carnation Festival which also has scheduled free stage shows Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, historical walking tours, and distribution of thousands of carnations to downtown visitors.

Heart Assoc. Tapes Play Tips For Good Health

Information on heart disease and nutrition is free for the asking, according to Dr. E. R. Powell, president of the San Diego County Heart Association.

Its telephone tape library called "Tel-Med" offers advice on a wide range of health subjects which can be heard in the privacy of the home.

Messages are three to seven minutes long and have been prepared by a panel of county physicians in easy-to-understand language," said Powell.

Twenty-five tapes deal with heart problems including such topics as diet, early warning signs and cholesterol.

The Assn. has a free brochure that lists all the tape subjects and the Tel-Med phone number. Call for one at 291-7454.

Basic Baroque Series to Play In Area Homes

Basically Baroque, a summer symposium of classical music to be held from July 19 to August 8, will hold a recital series of outstanding musicians in private homes in the San Diego area.

The recitals give San Diegans and visitors an opportunity to hear the outstanding musicians who will be teaching master classes for the symposium.

Recitals have been scheduled as follows:

Monday, July 19, 8 p.m., Anthony Newman, organist and harpsichordist will perform in the First Presbyterian Church 320 Date st., San Diego.

Thursday, July 22, 8 p.m., violinist Stefan Krayk will give a recital in the home of Chancellor and Mrs. William McElroy, La Jolla.

Friday, July 23, 8 p.m., Bertram Turetzky and Andrew Charlton will play the guitar and recorder in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crosby, La Jolla.

Monday, July 26, 8 p.m. a Faculty flute recital will be held at the home of Mrs. Jacob Brownowski of La Jolla.

Wednesday, July 28, 8 p.m., Janet Steele will give a song recital in the Rancho Santa Fe home of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Fleet.

Friday, July 30, 8 p.m., oboeist Josef Marx will present a woodwind recital in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Anewalt, Rancho Santa Fe.

Thursday, August 5, 8 p.m., Peter Farrell will give a viola da gamba recital at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Sidney Wiener in El Cajon.

Admission will be $4 for the general public and $2.50 for students, senior citizens and military. Ticket information and directions are available at the Mandeville Center Office, 452-2380.

Zoo, Park on Summer Hours

The San Diego Zoo and Wild Animal Park are now on summer operating schedules. The zoo's gates remain open until 6 p.m. The Wild Animal Park will close at 9 p.m.

BACKYARD MEMORY — Lemon Grove Artist Carolyn Chesy displays her painting "Out Back", a rendering of out house in a rustic country setting. The painting is one of several displayed at the Ben Polak Fine Arts Center in the Foothills Art Assn's Bicentennial Art Exhibit.

Gallery hours are 1 to 5 p.m., Saturday and Sunday through August.

This Week's RECIPE

Stuffed Cabbage for Dieters is No Beef

Here's an outdoorsy recipe for the summer camper, mailed in by one of our calorie conscious contributors:

CAMPERS' STUFFED CABBAGE

- 3 cups water
- 1 packet chicken broth or golden seasoning and broth mix or 1 chicken bouillon cube
- 12 large cabbage leaves
- 12 oz. drained canned tuna fish, flaked
- 1 tsp. curry powder
- ½ tsp. paprika
- ½ cup yellow mustard
- 1 cup tomato juice

Combine water and chicken broth mix; bring to a boil. Blanch cabbage leaves (2 or 3 at a time) in boiling water for 2 minutes or until tender but still crisp. Drain. Combine tuna fish, curry powder, paprika and mustard; mix well.

Spoon 2 level tablespoons of tuna mixture onto the center of a cabbage leaf. Fold ends over; roll.

Place in fireproof baking dish or saucepan.

Repeat with remaining tuna fish and cabbage leaves. Slowly pour tomato juice over rolled leaves in dish. Cool over low heat for 10 minutes or until heated throughout. Makes 2 servings.

L.G. Man at Conference

LAKE TAHOE — Adolph Helgeson, Jr., of 8080 Haven dr., Lemon Grove, was among approximately 170 Lutheran Brotherhood district representatives who attended a regional sales conference in June at the Sahara Tahoe, Lake Tahoe.

Helgeson earned the right to attend by qualifying for one of the Minneapolis-based fraternal insurance society's top 1975 sales clubs.

James Merrill, director of Lutheran Social Service of North Dakota, was a featured speaker at the conference.

Cub Pack 307 Welcomes New San Altos Scouters

Cub Scout Pack 307, in the San Altos Elementary School area, formed a new den, Den 4, inducted into the Pack at its June 26 monthly meeting.

The new den earned its "cubby" award for having the most parents attend the meeting.

Game prize awards were distributed at the meeting Winners in the water balloon toss were Tony Cataldo and Tony Zionskowski and "Simon Says" game was won (in order of finish) by David Blundell, Sean Scott and Kyle Brown.

All boys who will be 10 by September 30 or who have completed fourth grade are invited to bring a parent or guardian to the next weekly Webelo meeting of Cub Pack 307, Den 1, Wednesday, 7 p.m. at 1714 Dartmoor, Lemon Grove.

Webelo is the last step in Cub Scouting before advancing to Boy Scouts at age eleven. Den 1 is sponsored by the San Altos School PTA.

An overnight camp-out, crafts and citizenship activities are planned for the summer.

Inquiries may be made at 461-3494.

Food Spill 'Magic' Ruins Dry Cleaning

Did you ever use lemon juice as invisible ink, with your message appearing like magic in brown letters when you held it near the heat of a lightbulb? This same "magic" can ruin your clothing if you spill light colored fruit juices, soft drinks or alcoholic beverages on a garment and don't take proper precautions before it's cleaned. You'll end up with brown spots called caramelized sugar stains.

What happens is the sugar in the beverages is cooked or caramelized by the heat drying following cleaning. Even the moderate heat of a very gentle cycle can do it. The process takes place in spots from all beverages containing sugar, but it's easy to remember to work on a grape juice or cola spot. The clear, sugary liquids cause the unpleasant surprises.

Usually the brown spots are permanent. It depends on the size and age of the stain.

To prevent caramelized sugar stain damage, always remember where you've spilled a clear beverage. Then, tell your cleaner about the spill when you take in the garment for professional dry cleaning. Before cleaning the garment in a coin-op, ask the attendant for advice on how to take care of the spill area. If no attendant is present and you're sure water won't affect the fabric or dye, you can sponge the area with cool water. Make sure all water is evaporated before putting in a load of cleaning. The moisture might cause other water-sensitive clothes, such as wool sweaters, to shrink.

Class for Early Risers

You have to get up pretty early in the morning to take Vic Mendoza's "Introduction to Data Processing" class at Grossmont College this fall.

The class will meet two days a week at a special time —6 a.m.—for those who don't like to attend evening classes.

Chargers Sign Joe Washington Numero Uno $ ½ Million Choice

Joe Washington, the San Diego Chargers' No. 1 draft choice, was signed to a series of one-year contracts on Saturday.

Washington was described by Chargers General Manager Johnny Sanders, the best broken-field runner to come out of college since Gale Sayers.

Washington was Oklahoma's all-time leading rusher with 3,995 yards, a 6.1 yard average and 30 touchdowns. He has a career total offense of 5,783 yards and 34 touchdowns.

Chargers Coach Tommy Prothro said "He's a home-run hitter, an exciting player who can break up a game." Prothro plans to use Washington at halfback and move Don Woods to fullback. Woods is said to be in good shape again after undergoing knee surgery following his injury in the fifth game last season.

"Initially, that's how they will line up," said Prothro of the fullback-half status of his two stars. "Only time will tell if they remain that way."

Charger president, Gene Klein, made the announcement Saturday afternoon at a press conference in his Stadium office. "Washington is our Bicentennial present to San Diego fans," he said.

It is estimated that Washington signed five, one-year contracts for about a half-million dollars. Klein said single contracts were at the instructions of his attorneys. Washington's attorney, Thomas Vaughn, noted a court case in which Dick Butkus, Chicago Bears' linebacker, was injured during the first year of a four-year contract. The Bears attempted to pay for a single year. The courts ordered that Butkus be paid for the full term of the contract.

While rookies started practice this week at UCSD, the 5-10, 184-pound Washington was not among them. He will play in the College All-Star game against the Pittsburgh Steelers in Chicago July 23. A league rule requires a player named to All-Stars, to report for All-Star workout even though signed to a pro contract.

With Washington, says Prothro, his running backs are equal to any four in the NFL. His backs include Woods, Rickey Young and Bo Matthews.

Washington is from Port Arthur, Texas, and majored in Public Relations at Oklahoma. His trip to San Diego was a sort of second section of a honeymoon. He brought along his bride of two weeks, Meadowlark, to San Diego with him last week. She attended the press conference. The first honeymoon section was in Jamaica.

Negotiations for Washington were hard and long. Agreement was reached by phone Friday at 3 a.m. — just 12 hours before the press conference in San Diego. At one point, the weary Tank Younger, Chargers assistant general manager, hung up on attorney Vaughn. "I had to suck up enough pride to call him back," Vaughn said.

"I apologized," said Younger.

The Chargers lost their first 11 games last year and were 2-12 for the season. They look better this year.

Chargers July schedule:
Rookies in training now.
July 12 — Veterans report
July 22 — Scrimmage at S.D. Stadium
July 31 — Preseason opener against Philadelphia Eagles at San Diego.

The rest of the Chargers preseason schedule:
August 6 — New England Pats at Norman, Oklahoma
August 16 — St. Louis Cards at Tokyo
August 21 — San Francisco 49ers at Hawaii
August 29 — Seattle Seahawks at Seattle
September 4 — N.Y. Giants at San Diego.

Hand-Built Cycles At Seca Raceway

Yamaha factory teams from USA and Canada will contest the $60,000 Champion Spark Plug Motorcycle Classics (CSPMC) at Laguna Seca Raceway in Monterey, with just a single motorcycle each.

American team rider, Kenny Roberts of Modesto, and the Canadian team's rider, Steve Baker of Bellingham, Wash., will use machines hand-built by the factory in Japan that have a power-to-weight ratio surpassing any Indy or Formula One GP car!

Similar in layout to the water-cooled 750cc, four-cylinder racers offered for general sale by Yamaha, these "OW-31" specials have their 120bph engines squeezed into low, lightweight frames. And the use of much titanium and magnesium has carved the weight down to just 320 lbs.

The bikes were so much faster than the opposition at the Daytona 200 in March (where they were clocked at 190 mph) that they were the only machines in the race to suffer problems with excessive tire wear. The searing acceleration shredded the rubber from the rear tire of the bikes ridden by both Roberts and Japan's Hideo Kanaya while eventual winner, Johnny Cecotto, ignored pit signals and finished the race with his rear tire worn down to the threads.

The Baker/Roberts bikes are the only two in North America (only five riders in the world have them) and the CSPC will give West Coast fans their first glimpse of these incredible racers.

Friars Return Home July 22 For Seven of Eight Games

The San Diego Friars are on a 7-match road trip, visiting Boston, Indiana, New York, Cleveland (twice) and Pittsburgh.

The team returns home July 22 to play 7 of its next 8 games at the Sports Arena, opening with Boston.

In the Boston game, the Friars have guaranteed a victory or every person in attendance will be given a free ticket to the next evening's match against Indiana.

On the court will be Bettyann Stuart, now in her third season in the three-year-old World Team Tennis. She wishes all of her years were as pleasant as the past three.

"I'd be happier if we won more but the team spirit is terrific, the enthusiasm is growing all the time and the players are a great group," she said. "We're going to have a championship team in San Diego soon and I certainly hope I will be a part of it."

She is not exactly the most publicized of the San Diego players but certainly is one of the most valuable. Bettyann anchors the Friars' women's doubles and teams with Ross Case in mixed doubles.

The record confirms her own belief that her play this season has been solid. She has won half of her doubles matches (12 of 24) and her home record in both the doubles and mixed doubles is impressive.

"I've tried to adjust my style according to my partner and our opponents," she said. "And the coaching I've received from Cliff (Drysdale, the San Diego player-coach) and the help from Rod (Laver) certainly have helped.

"I know my volleying has improved and my serve has been more effective. And the spirit is such that there's never a moment when you aren't playing your hardest."

A wife, mother and tennis professional isn't the easiest of routines. But Bettyann has been able to handle the assignment.

I'm looking to the future with great confidence — not only my own future but also the Friars'," she said. "I think we're on our way toward something very rewarding, both for the fans and for the players. And I feel good about it."

'Soccer Surge' on TV

The San Diego Jaws and XETV (Channel 6) have signed a contract to air a weekly program called "Soccer Surge '76", according to Jaws' General Manager Paul Deese.

The half-hour program will be aired on Sunday afternoons, 3:30-4 p.m. with the first show scheduled for July 4.

Host for the weekly show will be Derek Trevis, coach of the San Diego Jaws. Trevis will be highlighting local youngsters as part of the educational program and will have chalk board talks to explain the technical aspects of soccer.

"Soccer Surge '76" will be aired for seven consecutive weeks running through August 15.

Buses Scheduled For Padres Games

San Diego Transit will provide bus service to all San Diego Padre games played at the Stadium during July. Stadium specials will commence service at 5:30 p.m. for all games starting at 7 p.m. and at 11:30 a.m. for all games scheduled to begin at 1 p.m.

Games for which full stadium service will be provided are:

July 15 and 16, St. Louis Cardinals, game time 7 p.m. both days.

July 17, St. Louis Cardinals, and July 18, Chicago Cubs, game time 1 p.m. both days.

July 19, Chicago Cubs, and July 20, Philadelphia Phillies, game time 7 p.m. both days.

July 21, Philadelphia Phillies, game time 1 p.m.

July 24, Los Angeles Dodgers, game time 7 p.m.

July 25, Los Angeles game time 1 p.m.

Riders can board stadium specials at College Grove shopping center, adjacent to College Grove Drive.

The special stadium fare of 50 cents a trip enables riders to travel from any point on San Diego's transit system, changing where necessary to connect with a stadium special. They should tell the driver when boarding that their destination is the stadium and they will receive a transfer which allows them to connect with a stadium bus.

Junior World Golf Draws 600

A record field of more than 600 young golfers is seen possible for the ninth annual Junior World tournament on five San Diego courses, July 27 through 30.

Mrs. A. S. (Lou) Smith, tournament director for the sponsoring San Diego County Junior Golf Assn., said the number of entrants may top 607 youngsters from 29 nations who competed two years ago.

The National PGA again cooperated in sectional qualifying throughout the U. S. San Diego qualifying was last week for boys and girls 15-17 at the Cottonwood Monte Vista course, with the low fourth of the contestants expected to make the JW proper.

Boys and girls 10 and under will play the short Presidio Hills course in the ninth JW, intermediate youngsters will shoot at Mission Bay and Balboa Park, and the 15-17 group will play at the Torrey Pines North and South courses.

The Boyd Barrett family, of 10059 Viewcrest dr., Spring Valley, has three youngsters in the tourney.

Bobby, in the 10-and-under and his sister, Sharon, in the 13-14 class, did not have to qualify.

Billy, in the 15-17 class was required to qualify — which he did last week.

Boyd Barrett is a teacher at Monte Vista High school and carries a 5 handicap — up recently from 3.

The 15-17 winners last year were Californian John Cook, playoff winner over Gary Halberg of Illinois, and Debbie Spencer of the big Hawaii delegation.

Foreign entrants signed so far are from Mexico, Canada, South Africa, Australia, Taiwan, France, Rhodesia, Japan, the Dominican Republic, Zambia and Panama.

Fans 'Dig' Rosie Wegrich Breakers Feminine Starlet

By Ans Dilley

Rosie Wegrich knows it isn't going to be easy. She's decided that she wants to be a SPECIAL person . . . and she's chosen to make her mark in professional sports.

This bastion of male domination has been modestly invaded by women in recent years but after you tick off the names of Evert, King, Pepler, and Blalock everyone else falls into agate type.

Roseanne is the brightest woman star in the International Volleyball Association but the bubble gum people haven't contacted her yet. "Sports Illustrated" hasn't made a wall poster of Rosie Wegrich for the adoring American sports fans and she'd probably get a centerfold offer before she gets the cover of a major magazine.

Roseanne Wegrich

Roseanne plays the ball court. She is called a "digger." She digs as well as any female in IVA.

Her ability as an athlete is proven. But her strongest qualities stem from an intelligence that belies her two dozen years and a dedication which reflects the 4,000 hours of grueling practice and intense competition that has made her a breathtakingly confident human being.

Seeks Self Identity

"I just decided about six months ago that I wanted to be a special person," says the 5-5 UCLA grad. "It happened while I was teaching and coaching at the U. of Minnesota. I just decided that I had to dedicate myself to being a notch above the mediocrity of the masses. I wanted to leave my mark on our society."

She chose pro volleyball, an uncluttered but hopelessly unpublicized field, in which to do it.

"It was what I could do best and I'm working hard to get recognized as one of the best in this business. That's what I seek now . . . who knows, the course of my life may change and other things will capture my interest . . . but right now it's volleyball."

It is difficult for a woman athlete to gain her share of recognition. Her deeds go greatly unnoticed by the male-oriented sports reporters, a group which like to call itself the sports reporting fraternity. But that's only because there are not enough females to call it a sorority.

Perhaps Bruce Ogilvie, the learned clinical psychologist at San Jose State U., sums it up best when he says, ". . . female athletes must make a leap . . . a psychological leap . . . out of society if she hopes to use her athletic talents to their fullest."

Women Athletes . . . Human

Ogilvie goes on to say a woman athlete has to, ". . . have the courage to redefine herself as a human being."

He says that our society tends to reinforce a concept of woman as a passive, dependent, willingly submissive servant to men whose basic motives for existence is their nesting instinct. He further adds that the old stereotypes seem never to die.

Rosie claims that her Breakers fast start this season (30) is mute testimony to the betterment of a situation which existed last year when they were 1-2 at this point.

"We had some . . . personality clashes last season," she said with a straight face. Pressed for more details Rosie indicated that some of the men players who are no longer on the squad ". . . felt the girls were just on the team to look cute. They just didn't have confidence in them."

This year it's a new ball game for the Breakers. "The guys not only recognize our contribution . . . they seem to count on it," said the Manhattan Beach, Calif. native.

But Ogilvie cautions against optimism. "Only the exceptional woman will reach the top in sports."

Night after night in the IVA Roseanne Wegrich continues to establish the fact that she is an exceptional woman.

'Sandy' Geuss Named Top Aide to Breakers

Michael R. Krupp, owner of the San Diego Breakers of the International Volleyball Assn. announced Tuesday the appointment of Sanford "Sandy" Geuss to serve as a special consultant.

Geuss, who directed the Breakers during their initial IVA season, will assist Krupp in reorganizing the Breakers front office staff and directing the club's operations.

In making the announcement Krupp stressed the fact that an abortive attempt by certain league officials to dislodge him from Breaker ownership had failed. He did not make the names of the officials public.

Men's Softball Playoffs to Start

Playoffs of the S.V. Park & Rec. District Men's Softball league's team get under way Monday at Rancho Elementary school. Semi finals will be played July 15 and 16 with the finals on July 19.

Standings on June 30 were:

Wreckers	8-1
Nootz	6-2
Batters	5-4
Roaches	3-4
Coleman	2-5
Wazoos	0-8

Rod and Fishing Class Scheduled

The San Diego Park and Recreation Dept. will conduct its 7th annual rod building and fishing classes on Thursday evenings July 8, 15, 22 and 29 at 7 p.m. in the Balboa Park Club building.

Preceding the July 15th meeting, flycasting instruction will be given beginning at 5:30 p.m. at the City Casting Pond facility at Morley Field, with equipment provided for "on the water" instruction. Instructor is Bob Bianco, a licensed fly-tier.

Classes are informal with student participation and the first two classes are largely devoted to rod building, including rod blank selection, tapers and actions, reel seats, guides, threads, determination of what type of rod best fits the student's personal needs, and personal instruction on rod building.

The third class meeting is designed to cover saltwater fishing, including study of reels, lines, terminal tackle and with special notes on Baja fishing.

Registrations for the class can be made at R. W. Bianco Custom Tackle at 3735 Sports Arena boulevard.

Lipizzans Due Here For 5 Performances

The seventh edition of The Wonderful World of Horses featuring the Royal Lipizzan Stallion Show will play Golden Hall July 23-25 for a total of five performances. Show times are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. July 23, 2:30 and 8:30 p.m. July 24 and 2:30 and 6:30 p.m. July 25.

More than 20 of the rare Lipizzaners will perform in the two-hour presentation featuring spectacular new acts and production numbers.

Albert Ostermaier, Edith Evans and David Jay combine with riders from 10 countries and an array of many breeds of horses for a colorful spectacle of superb horsemanship.

The stars of the show are the graceful Lipizzaners performing a full, authentic program of their famed classical movements and great leaps known as "Airs Above the Ground."

Originally the "Airs Above the Ground" were tactics of war, used by mounted men to inspire terror in enemy infantry. The Lipizzaners, because of their exceptional strength and intelligence, were especially bred for this purpose.

Sixty Million Viewers to Watch All-Star Baseball Game Tuesday

With the July 13 All-Star Game just around the corner, it is becoming apparent that the 1976 mid-summer classic will be seen by record and near-record numbers Monday in this Bicentennial year.

A crowd of about 61,000 is expected to pack Philadelphia's Veterans Stadium to witness the 47th renewal of the American League-National League rivalry. That projected capacity crowd will be the fourth largest for an All-Star Game and the biggest since 1954, when 68,751 turned out at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium.

The record crowd was set in 1935 at the same Municipal Stadium when 69,831 saw the third All-Star classic. In 1939, 62,892 attended an All-Star Game at Yankee Stadium.

In addition to the standing-room-only crowd on hand, ABC-TV estimates that as many as 55 to 60 million people will watch the 1976 game on television. The previous record All-Star Game audience was in 1967 when an estimated 51,340,000 watched the longest classic ever (15 innings) from Anaheim Stadium. Last year, an estimated 43,480,000 saw the game from Milwaukee's County Stadium.

Network Coverage

ABC will televise the All-Star Game over 200 affiliates in the United States plus numerous outlets in Latin American countries. The network will be using 11 different cameras in its first year of All-Star coverage — eight in fixed positions and three of the hand-held variety.

The CBS Radio Network, which is beginning its first year of All-Star Game, League Championship Series and World Series coverage, will bring the game to millions more throughout the world through its 261 affiliates as well as stations on the Armed Forces Radio Network.

While the 1976 major league attendance pace, which is 1.2 million ahead of last year, and the television estimate speak well of baseball's surging fan interest, another indication is the fact that the All-Star balloting, which determines the game's starters (excluding pitchers), currently is running at about the same pace as 1975 when a record 7.3 million ballots were counted.

As a result of the National League's 6-3 triumph over its American counterparts a year ago, the N.L. maintains a 27-18 edge in the series which began in 1933 at Chicago's Comisky Park. There has been one tie.

Bargain Bin, Goodbody Win Bobby Sox Titles

Alli Humphries of Shadoan's highlighted last week's action in the Spring Valley Bobby Sox League by striking out 13 to end the season with 200 SO's in 84 innings.

Bargain Bin leads the majors with a 22-1 mark followed by the S.V. Women's Club at 12-10, Realty World at 12-11, Blanchard Realty at 11-12, Puppy World 9-14, Tom's Meats 8-14 and Thomas & Son 5-19.

In the minors Goodbody won the title with a 17-3 record followed by Shadoan's at 14-6, Nassco 10-10, Bancroft 7-11 at 5-15 and the S.V. Merchants at 5-15.

Last week's results:

Realty World 14 — Blanchard 0

Bargain Bin 9 — Thomas Disposal 1

Goodbody 3 — Bancroft 1

Shadoan's 19 — Nascco 4

De Mott Heads Sports Group

John De Mott, sports director of radio KSDO was elected president of the Sportscasters/Sportswriters Assn. Tuesday.

He succeeds Reid Carroll, News-sports director of KCBQ.

Wayne Lockwood, sports-writer for the San Diego Union is vice president; Julianne Crane, freelance sports-writer is treasurer and Ron Reina, Sports Director, KFMB radio, is secretary.

Named to the board of directors were the four executive officers and:

Bob Vasquez, radio KSDO; John Wirges, newspaper columnist; Hope Hines, Sports Director, KFMB TV; Hal Clement, Sports Director, KGTV; Bill Weurding, sports writer, S.D. Evening Tribune; Bob Starling, sports reporter, Examiner newspapers; Joe Stein, Sports editor, Evening Tribune; Mike Smith, sports director, KCST-TV; and Max Goodwin, editor, Lemon Grove Review.

The organization meets each Tuesday noon at Palais 500, Town and Country Center, Mission Valley and representatives of the various sports franchises and endeavors are given time at the microphone to update reports on matters of sports concern.

The meetings are closed to the public.

Padres at Philadelphia Until All-Star Break

Six days in Philadelphia may not sound like a dream vacation to some folks, but that's what will be facing some of the members of the San Diego Padres and a sprinkling of front office personnel as the 1976 campaign hits the midway point.

The Padres will be wrapping up a four-game series in Chicago tonight, and then heading into Philadelphia for four games in three days with the Eastern Division-leading Phillies. The clubs will play a single game Friday following that up with a doubleheader Saturday and complete the series with a singleton on Sunday.

Then, it will be three days of rest and relaxation, of sorts, as the All-Star break will take up the three days from July 12-14. The game itself will take place on Tuesday evening, July 13 beginning at 5:30 p.m. San Diego time with national television. The starting lineups for the two competing National and American League squads will be announced by the Commissioner's Office sometime today and then the two managers (Sparky Anderson for the N.L. and Darrell Johnson for A.L.) will follow that up in the next few days with the remainder of the squad and the pitching staff.

Randy Likely

San Diego's best bet for All-Star honors is lefthanded pitcher Randy Jones who appears a shoo-in with the big question being whether or not Sparky will tab him as the starter. Jones is the only Padre pitcher ever to be named to the National League squad. In last season's classic in Milwaukee he pitched the bottom of the ninth and retired the American League contingent in 1-2-3 fashion.

"A year ago we were really looking forward to the All-Star break,' 'commented Padre manager John McNamara. "The situation a year ago found the club all nicked up with one injury or another and we needed a few days to recuperate. This season, though, I'm not too sure. We could use a few days off, but yet we've been playing pretty good baseball and you hate to take a break right when things are going well.

"The key to this would be to have a good series in Philadelphia. If we can play well in those four outings, that should keep us in a good frame of mind for when play resumes at the end of the week."

The Padres will come out of the break into a homestand which will feature the last trip into San Diego for the season for three clubs from the Eastern Division. San Diego will open July 15 with three single games against the St. Louis Cardinals and follow that with two contests with the Chicago Cubs on July 18-19. They'll wrap things up with the Philadelphia Phillies on July 20-21.

Grove Man Takes Trophy At Cajon Track Saturday

Third year driver Gary Beecroft of Lemon Grove summed it up best after scoring his first career win at Cajon Speedway Saturday night.

"All that work we've put into that car has finally become worth it," the happy winner said in victory circle following the marathon 76-lap feature.

Sporting a new paint job on his convertible Corvair, Beecroft pulled away to a 15 length win over Ed Hale after the two had run doorhandle-to-doorhandle for six laps midway in the race.

So complete was Beecroft's domination of the race that the Lemon Grove aircraft mechanic had lapped up to 5th place finishers.

Time for the 76-laps was 23 minutes, 35.50 seconds, a track record. The old mark of 30:54.60 was set on May 26 by Lanny Pemberton of Lemon Grove.

Close Race

When the super stocks meet for their 12th race of the 23 race season this Saturday night only 35 points will be separating the top three runners and a mere 105 digits split the top five. 150 points will be awarded to the winner of Saturday's 30-lap main event which will cap the show which starts at 8 p.m.

This weekend as the female drivers invade the 3/8 mile paved oval for another 10-lap event. The ladies figure to be chasing point leader Barbara Baxter of El Cajon and Martha Starr of Alpine, who won the Powder Puff race last month.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

I was really looking forward to a weekend of camping, but I guess I blew it. I mean, after all, I did promise I'd clean the damn old garage and all that. And I really meant to, but . . . well, you know how it is. I went out there with good intentions, but I just never seemed to get a handle on it. And I spent all day Monday trying to do it, too.

I started putting the tools away and cleaning off the work bench. My kids had been over to fix something or other and, as usual, whatever they used was piled right on top of the tools I used two weeks ago when I fixed the back door hinge.

I wrapped the electric cord around the drill and started to lay it away on the shelf under the work bench when I came across a pile of old Sporting News. They were more than two years old. I just glanced at a couple of stories to see if I remembered how the baseball races went and sure enough, the Dodgers were 41 and 16 after a three game sweep of Pittsburgh.

I couldn't have read more than a couple of papers when my wife lays into me about not doing my share.

"All weekend long you promised you'd clean the garage," she reminded me for the umpthteen time. "Saturday you had to play golf, Sunday you watched the ball game. Today is the last day of the long weekend you said you'd do all the jobs you've been putting off all spring. And what are you doing? You're reading a bunch of dirty old newspapers."

You know, she said all that in one breath. The words tumbled out of her mouth faster than a spring flood rolling down a mountain side.

"I'm getting to it," I protested. "I was just looking over these back copies of the Sporting News. That's not a crime."

"It is if you're supposed to be doing something else," she insisted in weird women's logic. "Read that junk AFTER you clean the garage."

Boy, talk about pushy broads. She knows I'm going to clean up the damn garage. I've been telling her that since Christmas. I just need a little time. She knows I'll get to it.

She walked back into the house in a huff. It was mostly for show. She knew I knew she was having a good ole time cleaning her kitchen. She likes to fool around out there. After she comes home from work, she spends most of her time out there every evening, just puttering around doing dishes and like that.

"Well," I thought to myself, "I'd better get on with it. The ole girl is up in arms and I'd better get cracking."

I had my choice between the messed up work bench, a pile of lumber and stuff I was going to use to make a dog house, but the mutt ran away last Thanksgiving, some picture frames my wife asked me to fix and put up last Christmas and some other junk.

Piled near the door, I spotted my golf clubs. Boy, were they dirty. I picked up a plastic bucket and took it in the kitchen. "Have you got any real good cleaning stuff," I asked the Queen of the Kitchen.

Don't tell me you're really going to do some cleaning," she cracked in mock surprise.

"In your ear with a bucket of beer," I shot back. "Gimmie the soap and some rags."

"Here's some Clorox," she smiled in near disbelief. "I don't even want to know what it is you're cleaning. As long as it's anything. No matter what it is, I figure I'm ahead of the game."

"Watch that smart mouth," I kidded, "Some day I'm going to knock off your beer for illegal use of the tongue."

It took me more than two hours to clean those golf clubs. I soaked the blades in pure Clorox, wiped 'em dry then used a metal polish to bring back the shine. I was extra careful with the woods, making sure the detergent didn't slop over on the finish. Then I waxed each one.

"Might as well do a complete job," I said to myself, and cleaned and polished the bag and cart, too.

"Wow, that's hard work," I told the spouse.

"I'm glad you got those damn golf things nice and clean," she said too sweetly, "Cause you're gonna spend NEXT weekend cleaning up what's left out there. You promised me a CLEAN garage and that's what I'm going to have."

And there went this week's camping trip. When it comes to women and such, there ain't no way a man can win.

Family Rivalry At Gardena Track

GARDENA — Rick Goudy of Cerritos and Tony Simon of Upland will extend their friendly family racing rivalry faces in J. C. Agajanian's to both sprint car and midget open-wheel doubleheader at Ascot Saturday night at 8 p.m.

Goudy, who competes in two famous cars, is the only driver ever to sweep a sprint-midget program at Ascot. Simon, whose sister is married to Goudy's brother, brings excellent credentials in both CRA sprints and U.S. Racing Club midgets.

In the midget event, Goudy gives the Continental Airlines Volkswagen its first USRC test of the 1976 campaign. Mel Kenyon, all-time U.S. Auto Club leader in midget victories, won a USAC race in Phoenix this spring. In the sprints, Goudy pilots "Tamale Wagon V," owned by the nine Morales brothers of Anaheim.

Simon, winner of Agajanian's Turkey Night midget Grand Prix in 1972, scored his first sprint victory of 1976 a week ago. He gave up a front-row starting spot in another sprint-car feature and turned his car over to Goudy after a practice crash eliminated Rick's regular mount.

Norton, Middleton Headline 40 Rounds of Boxing Sat.

The count-down is on.

San Diego's classiest fight —since Norton broke Ali's jaw—comes up early Saturday afternoon. Probably about 1:30. That would put it on the screen in the east at 4:40, just before fight afficianados there get geared up for the Saturday night binge.

The fight, as almost everyone in San Diego knows, emanates from the Sports Arena where the doors open at 11:30 a.m. The first of four 10-round matches gets underway at 12:30. That will be Eddie "Bossman" Jones, Norton's sparring partner, in a light-heavyweaight 10 rounder against Mike Quarry.

Many fight experts have already designated Ken Norton "champ" in spite of a small obstacle he must overcome in Yankee Stadium September 28 when he meets Muhammad Ali. That fight won't draw flies if Norton doesn't decisively whip Larry Middleton, his Saturday opponent. That causes a thoughtful observer to wonder if Ali's leg hurt in his Japanese fight-wrestle extravaganza will fail to respond to treatment, thus canceling the September 28 fight . . . if Norton gets beat Saturday. Otherwise, Ali's complete recovery may occur over the July 10th week-end.

The rest of the card, somewhat uncertain Wednesday noon, looks like this: LeRoy Jones (17-0) vs. Pedro Lavell, the S. American heavyweight champ. Welterweight top contender Armando Muniz will face an unnamed opponent — one who hadn't been acquired at presstime Wednesday.

San Diego teevee will be blacked out Saturday including the L.A. delayed tape on cable.

Tickets are scaled $25 ringside, down to $5 general admission. Parking is extra.

Colorful Trio Face Six Bulls

The strongest cartel of the season to date has been booked for Sunday in the downtown bullring, El Toreo de Tijuana.

It features Elroy Cavazos, Curro Rivera, and newcomer Cruzz Flores facing six brave bulls of Reyes Huerta beginning at 4 p.m.

Cavazos and Rivera have each fought once at Tijuana this season, but this will be the border debut for young Flores.

After a magnificent campaign as a novice, Flores took the alternative — became a full-fleged matador —on June 13 at San Juan del Rio, state of Queretaro.

Dental Tech. Mark Harris

Dental Technician Third Class Mark Harris, husband of Connie Sue Harris, 8902 Tyler, Spring Valley, joined forces with 9,500 U.S. servicemen in May rendering assistance to Guam residents in the aftermath of Super Typhoon Pamela.

Harris, deployed on the USS DIXIE, is a part of relief and recovery operations after the typhoon that battered this Western Pacific island on the 21st.

Packing winds gushing up to 180 miles per hour, Typhoon Pamela struck Guam directly, leaving in her path destruction that left thousands homeless, all utilities knocked out, and property damage estimated at hundreds of millions of dollars.

Harris' role in operations was assisting in removing debris.

LIFESAVER — Sheriff's deputy Robert B. Krtek, of the Lemon Grove Sheriff's Station accepts a resuscitator from Mrs. Robert Mars, a member of the Deputy Wives Assn. So far, the group has donated 39 of the devices used to aid in restoring breathing and heartbeat in emergencies.
Mrs. Mars' husband is assigned to the Lemon Grove station as a patrol deputy. The women expect to raise enough money to buy 30 more of the $60 devices — enough for each sheriff's patrol car.

Month of June Tax Dole Announced

June allotments of cigarette tax, highway use tax and "in-lieu" motor vehicle license fees to California cities and counties were announced recently.

San Diego County government received a total of $2,091,149 from the joint disbursements.

Monthly allotments in area cities included $8,849 for Del Mar, $115,931 El Cajon, $80,885 La Mesa, $1,394,466 San Diego City, $20,161 San Marcos and $51,691 Vista.

The cigarette tax portion of the distribution represents 30 per cent of the revenue deposited in the Cigarette Tax Fund during the month of May, less the state's administrative costs.

Income for highway users tax comes from gasoline, diesel fuel and miscellaneous taxes.

The third source of the monthly tax disbursement comes from "in-lieu" motor vehicle license fees. The State excise tax at the rate of $2 for every $100 of market value takes the place of local property tax on motor vehicles. Except for the portion held to cover administrative costs, the money is returned to local governments which may use their shares for general purposes.

SD Chamber Urges Passage Of Tough Shoplifting Law

The San Diego Chamber of Commerce has urged passage of a state anti-shoplifting bill which would impose mandatory fines and allow merchants to detain suspected shoplifters.

The bill calls for fines ranging from $50 to $500 for shoplifting, would allow merchants to detain persons suspected of stealing merchandise, and would hold parents liable for the civil misconduct of their children.

Last year, an estimated $68 million in merchandise was lost through theft in San Diego County, said VAdm. Ray Peet (USN ret.), vice president for the Chamber's Trade Division.

Chamber support for the measure authored by State Sen. Newton R. Russell (R-Los Angeles) has helped it pass the Senate and advance to the Assembly.

Letters supporting the bill were sent by the Chamber to San Diego-area State Senators John Stull, Jack Schrade and James Mills. The measure, SB 2063, passed the Senate in June.

The measure has been sent to the Criminal Justice Committee of the Assembly and a floor vote is expected in August. The Chamber Trade Division will send letters of support to the area's assemblymen.

Common Home Price Climbs Above $40,000

Existing California homes in the $40- to $50,000 price range outsold all other price ranges in April, according to the California Association of Realtors (CAR).

A survey, based on information taken from a representative cross section of 33 boards of realtors, shows 24 per cent of those who bought existing homes in April made purchases priced between $40,000 and $50,000.

Twenty-one per cent fell into this range a month earlier.

The survey also shows a median price of $46,800 for existing homes. One and two bedroom houses constitute less than 20 per cent of the market and three bedroom homes sell most frequently (52.3 per cent).

First Staggered Auto Fees Due DMV Today

Vehicle registration deadlines are here again.

This time, warns Motor Vehicle Director Herman Sillas, there is no grace period for the tardy. Late registrants will be penalized.

Under DMV's new staggered registration, the first automobile registrations expire today and on each succeeding even-numbered day up to and including the 26th. In July this includes the 10th, 12th, 14th, 16th, 18th, 20th, 22nd and 24th. Motorcycle registrations can expire any day of the month.

All commercial vehicles and trailers must be registered by the last day of the month.

If the deadline falls on a weekend or holiday, fees may be paid on the first business day after that.

Each month will follow the same pattern although dates may differ somewhat.

Designed to eliminate the long registration renewal lines of past years and ease the annual renewal crunch, year-round registration divides renewal deadlines on a monthly basis.

State is Big Business; Nearly $9 Billion Spent

Spending at the state government level is a $9 billion business.

State Controller Kenneth Cory released figures on government receipts and expenses for an 11-month period of the closing fiscal year.

Money coming into the state treasury totaled more than $8.5 billion while expenditures during that period were $8.6 billion, indicating that California deficit spent about $100 million.

The major sources of revenue for the state through May were sales tax, $3.4 billion; personal income tax, $2.7 billion; bank and corporate income tax, $1.1 billion; inheritance tax, $284 million and cigarette ax, $176 million.

Major single expense is school apportionments, $2.5 billion; followed by welfare, $1.1 billion; health care, $810 million; State universities and colleges, $491 million and University of California, $529 million.

Summer Parks Ready

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK — Yosemite High Sierra Camps have begun a full schedule of operation with the opening of the Glen Aulin Camp with the exception of May Lake Camp which will open July 10.

The five "Hikers' Camps" in the park are about 9 miles apart and provide accommodations in tents, beds, linen and ample blankets for the cold Sierran nights.

Breakfast and dinner are served family style in a central dining camp. Hot showers are at each camp.

The Hikers' Camp concept is to encourage visitors to enjoy overnight hikes without too much discomfort.

The speed limit sign. It says 55 miles an hour. And it says it for some very good reasons.

Like saving millions of gallons of gasoline and thousands of lives on the highways each year.

But you know these reasons already. Everybody from the oil companies to the insurance companies have been talking about them for better than two years now.

And some of you have been listening. Because some of you have slowed down.

But there are still an awful lot of people who seem to think the 55 mph speed limit is something they can take or leave.

It isn't. It's a law. With tickets and fines and all the rest. Just like any other law.

And just like other laws, it can do a lot of positive things. But it's enforcement that gives a law a chance to work.

The 55 mph speed limit is a sign of the times. And for the times. And it's something we've got to start paying attention to. Not just because it's a good idea. But because it's the law.

Sign of the times.

It's not just a good idea. It's the law.

State Law Lags in Pupil Busing Regulations

Here's a short quiz on school buses and school bus drivers. Test your skill:

1. All bus drivers who transport students are required to take a rigorous 4-hour training course. True or false?

2. Every bus driver who buses students must take a first aid course. True or false?

3. Every bus that transports students must be inspected once a year by California Highway Patrolmen. True or false?

4. The Yuba City tragedy of May 21 was one of the worst school bus accidents in the history of California. True or false?

If you answered "true" to all of the above, score yourself a zero. All statements are false because of some not well-known technicalities.

Though it is true that all school bus drivers in California must pass a strict 40-hour training session and be competent in first aid to be certificated, not all bus drivers who transport students are bus drivers. Some work for private bus companies.

Scratch questions 1 and 2.

It is true that all school buses must be inspected once every 13 months by the California Highway Patrol, but not all buses that transport students are classified as school buses.

Question 3 is false.

The Yuba City accident involved a chartered private bus, not a school bus. Hence 4 is also false.

Twenty-eight students and one teacher were killed in the May 21 Yuba City accident.

That tragedy brought to light the fact that the state laws governing school buses and drivers do not extend to private bus companies who may transport students on public or chartered routes.

School bus drivers are required to pass a 40-hour training course. They must possess a Red Cross first aid certificate.

A good personal driving record is mandatory — no speeding or drunk driving convictions are acceptable. They must have a Class 2 driver's license.

Drivers for private bus companies needn't have nearly as many credentials, whether students are on board or not.

They are not required to take either driving or first aid training.

Bus Safety

Furthermore, while a school bus driver is legally responsible for the condition of the bus he drives, other bus drivers are not.

Every school bus is checked twice daily before it leaves the yard, once by a mechanic, and once by the bus driver. Each check covers more than 50 points including all exits, mirrors, windows, seats and tires, as well as the lights and brakes.

Legally, a school bus must pass a thorough maintenance check by the California Highway Patrol every 13 months.

But no law regulates the maintenance of non-school buses.

Although present laws do not extend to private companies, new state laws would change that.

Senate Bill 2199

Senate Bill 2199, introduced June 2, would require any bus driver transporting students for any reason to hold a school bus driver's certificate.

It also requires any buses transporting students to have a CHP maintenance check every six months. Some feel that once-a-year checks are not sufficient to insure safe vehicles.

A recent UPI survey disclosed a wide variety of bus driver training standards from state to state. Some states, such as Louisiana, don't even train their drivers.

California, however, has had a school bus driver training program for more than 40 years. Within the last decade, the program has been expanded and strengthened. Classes are held at the CHP Academy in Sacramento. The classes train people to train school bus drivers.

County Orders Computers To Control Light and Air

A computer program system to conserve energy has been approved by the San Diego County Board of Supervisors for use in County buildings.

The system will monitor air temperatures, turn lights on and off, and is expected to save local taxpayers over $500,000 annually.

The centralized automated building environmental control system was designed by an engineering firm in cooperation with the County's Department of General Services. The system is projected to cost some $2.6 million but it is estimated the system will pay for itself within five years based on the annual savings produced by the computer, according to George Parker, San Diego County resource conservation engineer.

The computer will be programmed to perform specific tasks including: monitoring electrical consumption; measurement of inside air; wall and outside air temperatures; maximization of boilers and chillers; the monitoring of service needs and the monitoring of power use.

This means the computer will be programmed to turn lights on and off, and will trigger an alarm if the lights are turned on at an unauthorized time. The computer will also monitor and reset air temperatures, hot and cold coils, water temperatures, and humidity.

Installations will be in the County Administration building; Operations Center in Kearney Mesa; Vista Center; County Courthouse and Juvenile Hall.

The first of three phases will be completed within 12 months.

MIME'S THE WORD — Silent dramatist Mark Wenzel, a familiar face in San Diego, brings his pantomime routines to the waiting lines at Sea World this summer. He uses few props and no words in his improvisional routines which have entertained people waiting in lines at local movie theaters and other gatherings.

Millay to Build Park in Florda

A new park to be developed by the founder of San Diego's famed Sea World has been announced by George Millay, former president and chairman of the board of that organization.

Millay announced that construction will start this month in Orlando, in central Florida, on a $3.5 million recreational facility in which families may together participate in marine activities.

He said that the new facility, Wet-'n-Wild — would be built on a 15-acre tract on a 30-acre lake. It will have a huge lagoon with a giant wave-making machine; four 400 ft.-long slideways; teenage puddle-jumper pool and a Canadian water-caper playground.

Wet 'n Wild is near Florida's Disneyland and Sea World. Millay anticipates more than a half-million guests next year.

Would-Be-Thief Tries For VW Windshield

A night-hours thief slipped into the fenced parking lot at the Continental Apartments at 7025 Waite dr., Lemon Grove with the thought of taking the windshield from the VW owned by Mark V. Ruggiero, a Marine.

Something apparently disturbed the intruder before he finished his work. When Ruggiero started to work on June 24 about 6:30 a.m. he found the windshield and moulding severly damaged on his '68 fastback.

CHP Waging Crackdown

Illegal Auto Registration Targeted

"The practice is more widespread than we first realized," said Highway Patrol Commissioner Glen Craig. He was speaking about improperly registered vehicles in California, target of a recent CHP enforcement drive.

California residents who registered their vehicles outside the state to take advantage of smaller fees generated an extra $70,000 in use taxes and registration fees since January 1. Those who were caught with such arrangements, that is.

Continued detection of improperly registered vehicles should realize a significant dollar return to the state, Craig said.

State law requires California residents to register their vehicles upon entry to California. The only exception is if the vehicle owner has been the legal resident of another state before moving to California. In that case, the vehicle may remain registered with the out-of-state plates until they expire.

A heavy penalty is levied on vehicle owners who violate the registration code.

Watch Out, 'Ring Pull,' Here Comes 'Push Tab'

"Press-tab" may mean for the '70s what "ring-pull" meant to the sixties, according to one beverage distributor.

The Adolph Coors Co. is testing a "press-tab" top for its beer cans to replace the litter and safety hazards presented by the ring-pull openers which made their debut in 1966.

The new cans have a small disc for ventilation and a larger disc for pouring. Both are pressed in and both remain firmly attached to the can.

Fire Dangers Close Parts of Forest

Cleveland National Forest Supervisor Fred Deholl announced that certain high value watershed areas of the Cleveland National Forest will be closed to public entry as of today because of high fire danger.

The areas include national forest land on the Palomar Ranger District.

Maps and complete descriptions of the restricted areas are available at Forest Service district offices and at the Cleveland National Forest Headquarters, 3211 Fifth ave., San Diego.

Liquor Store Gets New Owner

An Annapolis graduate has been added to the business community in Lemon Grove.

Lt. (jg) Ed Gumkowski, who retired from the Navy at month's end, will take over the operation of Popular Liquor and Delicatessen.

Popular Liquor, at 7826 Broadway, is one of the oldest firms in the community. It was started by Sam Kahan and his family. A couple of years ago it was sold to Ralph Schartz of El Cajon after Kahan's wife became ill and Kahan lost his liquor license.

Schartz said that absentee ownership consideration indicated that he should sell the operation.

Gumkowski, until this month, was director of Guns and Systems Division at Pac-Fleet Training Center at 32nd st. in San Diego where he carried the responsibility for about $20 million in inventory. He was graduated from Annapolis in 1970.

He is 28 — one of the youngest liquor licensees in the state. And he has been a busy young man. He attends school three nights a week and held a job three nights a week. His weekdays were taken up by the Service. At USC he is completing his masters in business management.

He lives presently in Mira Mesa and his home is Stamford, Connecticut.

Home Price Average Down to $43,611

It costs $43,611 on the average to buy a home or condominium in San Diego County, according to May statistics provided by the San Diego Board of Realtors.

The figure, an average of the cost of 576 homes and condominiums in the Board's multiple listing service for May, is down from the April average of $44,912. May 1975 average was even less, $41,598.

The multiple listings include home and condo resales in San Diego City and some unincorporated areas.
